INFORMATION LETTER

about International Conference
"THE NEW MATERIALS AND SOLAR TECHNOLOGIES"

Dear colleagues!

We invite you to take part in the International Scientific Conference "The New Materials and Solar Technologies", which will be held on April 28-30, 2025.

The main goal of the Conference is to exchange scientific and practical information, identify the main tasks and trends in the field of smart materials development, synthesis, production and application of new materials.

Language: English.

Scientists, PhD and DSc students, researchers, young scientists, business representatives are invited to participate in the Conference.

The main topics of the Conference:

- Memory of rare and non-equilibrium events;

-Nano and nanocomposite materials with specified properties;

-Materials for "green" energy.

Participants are requested to fill out the participant registration form (Appendix 1) and send it to the e-mail address info@imssolar.uz with an attached file no later than April 10, 2025.

Please, send your abstracts of your scientific papers to the e-mail address info@imssolar.uz by April 10, 2025 for consideration by the Organizing Committee and publication. The requirements for the abstracts are given in Appendix 2.

Abstracts are published in the author's version and are not subject to review, but may be subject to editorial revisions.

The Organizing Committee of the Conference will be grateful to you for disseminating this information among teachers, researchers of universities, scientific and research institutions, specialized enterprises and organizations that are interested in participating in the Conference.

All information about the Conference is available on the website of the Institute of Materials Science www.imssolar.uz in the Conference section 2025.
